Visy is one of the world's leading packaging, paper and recycling companies. Customers come from a wide range of industries, and Visy creates packaging to suit their specific requirements. As well as providing packaging to some of the world's best known brands, Visy also offers recycling solutions across Australia and New Zealand. This service reduces the waste that goes into landfill, minimises the use of water and energy, and efficiently uses and reuses scarce resources.

The Current Situation

Visy is firmly committed to manufacturing their products in a safe, efficient and environmentally responsible way. Their policies and procedures outline the measures that are in place to ensure their employees, contractors and visitors are not exposed to harm as part of their services, activities and operations.

The Challenge

Visy's HSE Management System and Standards are fully integrated into other management systems across all of its business operations in Australia and New Zealand. It applies to all levels of businesses, sites and departments operated by Visy. Keeping up-to-date with changes in legislation and regulations across multiple Australian and New Zealand locations (and to understand how these changes apply specifically to each site) is one of their biggest challenges.

The Solution

Environment Essentials have provided Visy with EnviroLaw, SafetyLaw and HSE LawGuides products. Staying informed of legislative changes via monthly email updates has enabled the HSE team to streamline their approach and keep up-to-date with all changes pertaining to different sites.

“Environment Essentials has delivered a valuable and functional system that saves us time and allows us to fully focus on continually improving HSE performance across our operations. Its successful integration has been through the training and continual support provided by the Environmental Essentials team”
