

ISO 45001 Interested parties checklist

Here are some potential interested parties relevant to your Safety Management System (SMS), and their needs and expectations. This list is not exhaustive so ensure to check for others relevant to your management system.

	Interested parties	Examples of needs and expectations
Government	Local council	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Minimising risks to local amenities
	Local fire authority	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Communication of onsite fire hazards
	Occupational/Workplace health and safety authority	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Work health and safety legal compliance
	Road authority	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Reducing hazards related to dangerous goods transported offsite
Your organisation	Employees and workers	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Minimising risk of injury or fatality
	Head office/Parent company	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Compliance with company global standards
	Other organisational sites	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Sharing work health and safety information and ideas
	PR department	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Work health and safety “good news” stories Zero injuries and fatalities
	Shareholders	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Reducing financial and reputational risks

	Interested parties	Examples of needs and expectations
Other stakeholders	Certification auditors	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Compliance with ISO 45001:2018
	Contractors, suppliers and consultants involved in your operations	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Safe working environment
	Industry associates you hold membership to	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Supporting their industry initiatives
	Insurers	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Reducing risks that might lead to financial loss
	Landlord	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Minimising risk to site infrastructure
	Main customers	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Minimising reputational risks
	Medical facilities	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Communication of foreseeable emergencies
	Neighbours	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Reducing risks that may affect them such as fire or other air emissions
	Trade unions	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Safe working environment
	Tradespeople working onsite	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Communication of safety hazards